Hi Georgel.
It's a good idea to go to the cinema with you, but I apologize, I can't go there on Friday. I'm very busy. I have three piano lessons in a musical school on Friday. If you can, let's meet next Saturday or Sunday evening. We will be free, because we don't have lessons at school at the weekends. We can meet at 6 o'clock.
Write back soon. I hope, you will come.

When Max opened the letter, he was so excited that he started dancing around the room. The letter was sent by his best friend Robin, who lived in New York and was a famous rock band singer.

Robin invited Max to his concert at next weekend. There were a ticket on plane and ticket for concert in letter. When Max arrived in New York he met Robin. They walked along the different streets, went shopping and cinema.

The concert began in the evening at 9pm. Concert was great. Robin was a very good guitar player. Max was surprised how many people came for this performance. Max took a lot of photos and Robin gave him guitar lessons. The next day Max had to come back home. He was happy to spend these days with his friend.

Letter.

Wonderful journey.

When Max opened the letter, he was so excited that he started dancing around the room. Because he read, that his family can leave this country and have a rest in kopr. He went to his family and told them about this letter. They were very excited. They phoned all their friends and told about it. After that his family left their flat and go by plane to kopr. But when they arrived to kopr, some Max friends met them. They ~~told~~ ^{talked} a lot, but his family understood that they must to sleep a lot. They were very tired.

So they were in kopr about five days and they understood that they must go home. They rested so much. They walked, ate and played. But they didn't want to go to their small flat and have very busy days. But Max and his family believed that they will be there in next year.

When Max opened the letter, he was so excited that he started dancing around the room.

The letter was from his pen friend Kirill who invited him to Moscow during the summer holidays.

Two days later Max and his father were at the airport waiting for the flight to Moscow. Max had only one suitcase, where he had packed all necessary things including some souvenirs for his friend. When the flight announced Max hugged his dad and went to the boarding.

On the plane, flight attendants brought food. The view from the window was amazing. The cities were small and the houses were even smaller. Clouds were so beautiful and fluffy. When the night came Max fell asleep.

Some hours later Max saw Kirill with his parents. They were smiling and waving for him. They got into the car and drove home to Kirill. Moscow is a very beautiful city. Kirill showed Max amazing sights. Then Max saw Saint Basil's Cathedral, Red Square, Moscow Kremlin. This was amazing journey in his life!

When Max opened the letter, he was so excited that he started dancing around the room. The letter he from Chloe—the old friend's Max, who was come back from Finland soon. Max can't be wait for meet and hug her, so he told this news parents. They are promise to go in train station with Max, when Chloe will come back.

And finally, this day has come. Max wake up early, and going to wake parents too, but they are wasn't be at bedroom. And, of course, at home they are wasn't too. Max was scared. What, if they are forgot about their promise? And boy started crying.

5 minutes later Max heard, how someone unlocked the door. It was his parents. Boy start asking, where are they be.

- We want to buy the present for your little friend, - answer parents. - Did you think, we are forget about this day?

Max smile and all family ride in train station. Max was so excited, like in the day, when he opened the letter. Finally, he saw Chloe, and run into her.

- Chloe! I am so happy to see you again.

- Me too, Max! Me too!

- Here! - Max give the present to her. - This is for you!

- Oh, thank you alot! - Chloe hug Max and he hug her too. Minute later, they are went to Max's parents. Together.

Statistics show that throughout the past few years a lot of people started traveling and switching their careers. ~~Although, there are some negative sides to it,~~ I believe these changes are a positive development.

First of all, one of the best parts about traveling, is that it helps expand the person's point of view, and helps him/her gain understanding of our world. It is a perfect way to discover something new. For example, by learning about the other nations' culture, traditions, history, and way of life, we get a fuller understanding of our own position in life.

Also, a change of career, lets the person try something new. Perhaps, find his/her dream job that makes this person happy and satisfied. For example, if a person at his/her's previous job felt miserable, useless, had no friends, and got tired of going to the same work everyday. Switching jobs is a perfect solution. It's a wonderful opportunity for that person to start over, make new acquaintances and feel ^{good} about himself/herself. By the way, a change of career ^{could} also mean higher salary.

✓ Change is an essential part of human life, without it we wouldn't be able to progress and become wiser. Therefore, a change of job and place is always welcome.

Nowadays people prefer to travel and enjoy to visit other countries, they ~~to~~ meet & new people, know new information and find interesting places.

To my mind, this changes have positive and negative sides. In my appenean the main positive aspect is communication with other people, because if you meet people new friends, they can help you with your goals.

However, if you have children and native human it's rather hard to visit other countries, because I think all children should study at school, maybe it's rather difficult to leave your friends. If you have native people you can't find such friend, it's rather hard to find the best friend nowadays.

However, if you have very good career and you place in life you should to think: "Do you should to leave your place? Is it good to ^{you?}?" To my mind, it's rather hard to change your way of life.

However, in my appenean visiting and traveling is rather good and positive for you and for your life. If in you place you feel yourself not very good you should travel.

Writing.

Many Most of people nowadays leave their country or city, cause they are looking for the best conditions and it is absolutely normal, we have only one life! People of the ancient times usually didn't have their permanent residence. They called nomads.

Today we live by nomadic life, cause many of us changed their habitat at least once in life. The main advantage of changes is to learn many cultures and have new knowledges. Also you are lucky if you have or had possibility to changed your career, because it is the good way to find your main goal. Usually people change their residents because of career, they are closely tied. Of, course, the most difficult thing in every change is that fact - you should re-be in society. Some ^{people} can say that it isn't difficult, but it depend on your unique interests and behaviour. And in fact so many people go to a new place because of career. I don't move career or place but I move class and it was a fortune.

As for me it is more good reasons to move residence, than bad, because I like new things, but I don't want it now, because of my close friends and lovely places. In any case for somebody it is a good enter into better life.

Writing.

Many people choose where they work and live. This is very good, because people can make their own choices. People live where they like and they become much happier. Basically, people move to more developed cities, for example: Moscow and Saint Petersburg. Some people like big and noisy megacities and other like small and cute cities. People change their careers because they get tired. People want to open new professions. I think it's positive development, because people can make their own choices. People can select new job. They can to stay more frandy and communicated man. It's very good, because you can stay more happy. When you visit new cities and countries you can speak with different people and learn many interesting things. You can see different picture of future. You can visit more interesting places, and looked more animals. It's very good, because you can use your life to be more interesting and happy. And you can stay more happy.

According to research for recent years many people often change jobs and places of residence. What motivates people to a frequent change of scenery? Is it good or bad?

To my mind it is a positive development. Because I often think about moving from the city where I live. And in the future I would like to move to another place.

In my opinion there are several reasons for this.

The first reason is that people have a wish to bring movement into their lives that's why them decide to move into another place and to change everything, starting from the surrounding and ending with job.

The second reason is that today ^{people} travel a lot and everyone can find a place in which he would like to stay living.

The third reason is that nowadays people can easily communicate from a distance. As many fall in love with people who live in another city or country. So people often move to their soulmate.

But a frequent change of residence can adversely affect your life. Moving requires mental strength, because with every new place you need to start all over again.

Also moving requires a lot of money.

Nevertheless, a person needs a place that he can call home. And as the old saying goes, well where we are not.

Migrating to another city, country or changing a career is a popular trend today. Despite some negative aspects, that do exist, I believe that the changing career and place of living is a positive development for a person.³⁴

Discovering something new was one of the favorite aspects of people's life for a long time and the same today. For some people moving to another city can be a new step for their new discoveries. In addition to this, a career change can create a new daily routine, where people can face with new tasks, mistakes, rising friends and even enjoy their new work.³⁵

On the other hand, if a person coming from one country to another one, it can be difficult to adopt to new life and people. Furthermore, changes that a person will get new work are very small and negligible.³⁶

To my mind, all people should change their work and living places (if they want these changes), because it is good opportunity for them to new scopes and for people's self-development.³⁷

In conclusion I want to say that there are both good and bad his aspects for changing places and careers, but each person evaluates these abilities and opportunities and decides everything himself, because if he can't do this, he will never do this step.³⁸

An increasing number of people today frequently change their careers and places of residence several times during their lives. Nowadays there is a tendency for active young people to leave their native areas for new towns and cities. All people want to be successful in life and hope to achieve the best results in their career.

In my opinion living in a big city is much more preferable to living in undeveloped and little cities. Firstly, big cities have more opportunities for self-actualization. You can make your career or start your own business. Secondly, developed cities have different amazing parks, museums, centres. Thirdly, living in such city, is good for children. You can give your child the opportunity to grow higher in career ladder.

On the other hand, people cannot always find a successful job in developed city. Moreover, people leave families for work. This affects children very badly, because every child wants to grow up in a full-fledged family.

To conclude, I would like to say that young people can travel to different countries and cities in search of work and family, but if you already have family it is better to live together despite your work.

Today I would like to talk about people who periodically change their place of residence and work. Let's look at all the pros and cons of this action.

To start with, I can say that in a new place you can make new friends and acquaintances. Besides, moving is always a new experience for a person. Of course, it can be positive or negative, but each experience is valuable. In addition, in a new place, a person has the opportunity to express himself on the other side and change their status in society. Moreover, you can watch many different and beautiful places, and take lot of great memories.

On the other hand, there are some disadvantages. Firstly, there is no permanent home, that is place where it is always warm and cozy. Secondly, there is no permanent place of work and accordingly, no earnings. And one more problem is that maybe there are no good and reliable friends.

As for me, I see nothing wrong with moving and changing job, because as I said earlier, this is a new experience and opportunity for each person. But it would be hard for me to change my place of residence often, since I am usually attach to people.

In conclusion, I can say that people should choose by themselves their style of life, which would be more comfortable for them.

Nowadays an increasing number of people frequently change their careers and places of residence several times during their lives. To my mind this is a positive development, but there are some disadvantages. I will try to prove my opinion.

First of all, people change their last job, because they want to be successful and achieve best results in their work. Secondly, people are thinking about something new and interesting when they get an education, people realise that there are a lot of places where they can find a new job. They can change the whole their life, so they do it.

According to people living in countryside, they leave their houses and arrive to cities. Fortunately, in cities there are more opportunities for them. In addition cities are very comfortable and modern.

On the other hand, people don't want to leave their families and (old) houses. Nevertheless, when they arrive to another city they usually find it amazing. However, a lot of people have problems with getting a new job.

To sum up, advantages are overweight disadvantages. People try to learn something unknown and that is great! This situation is surely a positive development and it causes a lot of good things for people.

I think that it's a positive development. § 7
 First of all, it's a really important decision for person to change it's career or place of residence. Only self-confident and brave people can make such a decision. Also career change indicates personality development, how person getting better. But it's not only about career or place of residence changing, but changes in general. For example, it was really hard for me to make a decision to change my english courses teach because I've realized that this teacher can't give me what I want. It shows that I am ready for getting new knowledges and keep developing. Also if people change their place of residence it shows their level of life because change a place of residence is not so cheap. If people a person have enough money for buying a new house than this person have a good salary. If person have a good salary than this person is quite educated because people are payed for knowledges. But people are not always happy. They have to show their knowledges to receive a good salary and keep the position. That's why career changing or place of residence change are positive development. It show how many person have done for this.
